

BUSHFIRES

Success Criteria Checklist:

- The weather conditions associated with this type of event.
- The areas of the country most affected (include a map).
- The impact this event can have on the human and physical environment.
- Ways people can protect the human and physical environment.
- How people and emergency services react and handle these episodes.

Extension:

Carry out online research into your type of extreme weather event. Search for a recent case study example and add details of this particular episode to your report. Consider the impact it had on people and the environment, and report on the location of the event.