

The strawberry grows on a farm in Baja California, New Mexico

it is carried by lorry to a packing plant in Arizona, USA

Once packed, it is imported to the UK by a well known supermarket. This particular strawberry is destined for a Birmingham supermarket, but is first flown to London.

Finally, Mrs Jones buys the strawberry (along with a few more) and makes them all into her delicious strawberry jam!

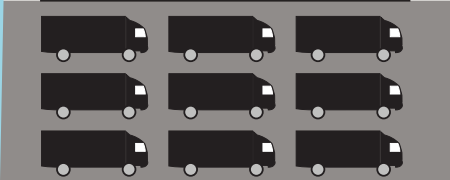

FOODWORLD

A lorry delivers the strawberry to a supermarket.

DEPOT

The strawberry is taken by train to a depot on the outskirts of Birmingham.

